Position Summary

The Sr. Manager of CRM is responsible for the development, execution, analysis and optimization of email and SMS marketing campaigns. This role is central to driving customer retention and LTV by delivering personalized, data-driven campaigns. The Sr. Manager, CRM works with cross-functional partners to deliver a customer-centric CRM go-to-market (GTM) strategy, manage testing roadmaps, ensure campaign alignment with the Integrated Marketing Calendar (IMC) and deliver actionable reporting and analysis. This individual is a subject matter expert in CRM best practices, measurement and innovation, balancing strategic planning with hands-on execution. The ideal candidate is curious, proactive, motivated, and collaborative, with strong communication and analytical skills.

Primary Duties

- Develop, scale, and optimize best-in-class Email and SMS Campaigns programs with a heavy emphasis on personalization, segmentation and automation.
- Own the CRM Campaign Go-to-Market (GTM) plan, including plan development, review, signoff and execution.
- Develop and manage the CRM Campaign testing roadmap
- Identify and implement new tests and tactics, continually seeking to innovate to drive improved results
- Guide Brand and Creative partners to maximize content, creative best practices, and personalization
- Lead, coach and inspire operations team to champion email campaign development, delivery and measurement processes
- Build, iterate and scale the segmentation and personalization program for both Email & SMS, using zero and first-party data to deliver more targeted, relevant and productive communications.
- Own Email and SMS campaign testing calendar, prioritizing impactful hypothesis for incremental opportunities
- Analyze and report on program results, communicating takeaways, recommendations and clear actions based on the data in weekly, monthly and quarterly meetings.
- Own customer experience from email to landing page experience, working with Site Team to develop landing pages to increase conversion
- Proactively analyze competitive marketplace and stay abreast of email industry trends
- Write effective creative briefs that include campaign objectives and strategic messaging for Email and SMS campaigns.
- Be an expert in, and report on creative learnings. Inclusive of Subject Lines, imagery and landing experiences; share learnings with broader team in weekly, monthly and quarterly meetings.

- Manage email campaign intake, scoping, prioritization, and planning
- Document and communicate email projects, programs, and success to the broader team
- Own updates to the Integrated Marketing Calendar to reflect Email and SMS Campaign schedule.
- Additional tasks and responsibilities assigned as necessary

Required General Knowledge & Skills

- Minimum of 7+ years experience in a strategic, customer-focused email marketing role; retail marketing strongly preferred
- Analytical, proactive, problem-solver with an insatiable curiosity; bring creative solutions to take on challenges and meet business requirements
- Strong understanding of personalization/segment marketing and how to best create outstanding customer journeys
- Passionate about direct marketing; deep understanding of audiences, online consumer behavior & customer journeys
- Strong creative & data-driven thinker; able to see trends and to extract actionable insights from data to drive results
- Excellent project management, communication, problem-solving, and decision-making skills
- Self-motivated and detail-oriented, with excellent people and time-management skills
- Experience with CRM tools (Bloomreach a plus) & analytics systems such as Google Analytics and PowerBI
- Ability to work in an ambiguous, fast-paced, changing environment
- Microsoft Excel and PowerPoint/Keynote skills a must
- Management experience of high-performing team members
